Tivoli... Village of Tivoli Deputy Mayor Bryan Cranna represented the village at a recent Hudson River Valley Greenway board meeting this week at the New York State Capitol. The meeting allowed Deputy Mayor Cranna an opportunity to hear the progress that both the Greenway Communities Council and the Greenway Conservancy are doing to encourage an environmentally sound Hudson Valley, and at the same time promoting smart growth.

New York State Parks Commissioner, Carol Ash was on hand to provide an update on the state's commitment to revitalizing its parks system and historic resources.

Cranna stated, "As a riverfront community dedicated to preserving its riverfront heritage, the Hudson Valley Greenway has been a wonderful friend and ally to Tivoli. As we move forward with developing our riverfront property, we look forward to working collectively with the Greenway on this project and future projects as well."

The Deputy Mayor concluded by saying, "We are proud of our environmentally strong record in Tivoli. From utilizing wind power, to developing our reed bed system to dispose of sludge from our sewer plant, and planting trees throughout the village, Tivoli has been a model of a green municipality."
